Important Notice! MGBW

We regret to inform you that we have seen that MGBW closed its doors and declared bankruptcy. At this time, they have not released a statement regarding open orders. There are a couple of next steps that you could take if you have an open order:

1. Wait for MGBW to release a statement regarding their plans for open orders.
2. Dispute the charge on your credit card, effectively canceling your order.

If you decide to dispute and would like your designer to source a replacement for your MGBW item(s), we can definitely do that.

Please reach out to your designer via email requesting a new option. You can also reach out to your designer requesting a new option if your designer originally sourced an MGBW item.

Buh Bye Boring Bedroom: Unlock the Perfect Palette for Your Primary Space

You've invested in beautiful furniture for your primary bedroom, but your walls still say "meh?"

How do you pick a color that's both exciting and timeless? Betsy breaks down coordinating the entire space using the 60/30/10 rule.

Plus, why a dash of pink might just be the missing link. Tune into our latest podcast episode to get the scoop. >>>
